Gate & door Control

CELEBRATING 25 YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL TRADING

KZN leaders in gate automation and security

FOUNDED 25 years ago with the catch phrase, "easy come, easy go!" Gate & door Control continues providing custom and expert solutions for clients needing quality, professional security. From its humble beginnings in those early years, the company under the ownership of Brad Goldman, who has become an industry leader in the field of security, has grown and expanded not only in size and business, but in the solid reputation it has developed over the years servicing the needs of residential, commercial and industrial clients.

Brad is especially proud of the service and excellence his various teams provide customers, ensuring each individual client receives expert advice and service starting from their initial contact with his staff who assess and recommend solutions, to those who fit the chosen solutions and to the customer care service which ensures maintenance and repairs are upheld and warranties are honoured. "Each team is dedicated to its appointed task, ensuring the customer always gets the best from whomever they are dealing with in our company," he said.

A visit to their website gives a good indication of how the company has kept abreast of the latest advances - with Brad and his teams able to offer solutions to every aspect of securing your business premises or home.

"Because we do it all we can ensure all the pieces fit together and work well together," said Brad, adding that repairs and maintenance also featured on the list of priority services.

Brad and his teams are humbled by the consistent support of their loyal client base. "Without our customers we are really nothing," he said, adding that customer loyalty has been the catalyst for the company's growth and continued expansion over the years. There is a great sense of gratitude within the company and it shows in the way the staff connect with customers. "Client service is essential to us. It is the most important part of our whole business and it is why we place such an emphasis on it in staff training and in planning the growth of the business."

Custom work for various industries, from steel work cages for businesses to the manufacture of gates to suit particular properties and entrances is also included on the list of services offered. "We do jobs for large industry as well as domestic customers," said Brad, adding, "no job is too big for us," he said extending an invitation to all interested persons to visit the company website for more information about the various services offered, or to feel free to call and chat to staff about their particular security needs.
